

'FROZEN ASSETS? PRESERVING SPERM, EGGS AND EMBRYOS', a FREE-to-attend event in Edinburgh on the evening of Tuesday 25 October 2016

Supported by the Scottish Government. This event will focus on preserving fertility when there is a medical need - when being treated for cancer or other conditions, when transitioning gender, or when entering a high-risk occupation.

The speaker panel includes PROFESSOR RICHARD ANDERSON (Head of Obstetrics and Gynaecology at the University of Edinburgh's Centre for Reproductive Health), ALISON McTAVISH (Cofounder and Nurse Manager at Aberdeen Fertility Centre), DR MARY NEAL (Director of Teaching and Learning at the University of Strathclyde's Law School) and PROFESSOR ALLAN PACEY (Head of Andrology at Jessop Fertility).

Further details of the event can be found at <http://www.progress.org.uk/frozenassets> - to book your FREE place, RSVP by email to starr@progress.org.uk
